

LEARNING ABOUT THE BUSINESS WORLD THROUGH JA JOB SHADOW AT GENERAL ELECTRIC

Learning first hand from Handry Satriago, CEO of GE about what it takes to be a CEO.

Entering its third year, on 16th March 2011 General Electric Indonesia hosted JA Job Shadow at their office in BRI Tower. The event was opened by a representative from Dinas Pendidikan DKI Jakarta Rita Ariyani, Natalia Soebagyo, member of PJI National Board and Hendra Lesmana, from GE. For this event to run successfully, GE provided 25 mentors and a committee consisting of 28 people. About 100 students and also members of Student Company (SC) from SMAN 1 Jakarta, SMAN 1 Bogor, SMAN 35 and SMAN 7 were grouped together based on their position in the company, and then mentored by an employee of GE working in that position. For example the president directors from those student companies had the incredible opportunity to be mentored by Handry Satriago, CEO of GE for 2.5 hours.

All of the students learned directly what skills and knowledge are needed to work in a particular department in GE. Learning first-hand from the best mentors had motivated the students to study harder, because they realize that in order to work in such position requires academic achievements as well as achievement in running an organization. Prestasi Junior Indonesia are thankful to General Electric for their wonderful support and enthusiasm to deliver a wonderful learning experience for the students and helping them become better people in the future through the JA Job Shadow.

CATERPILLAR INDONESIA LEADS JA JOB SHADOW WITH A DIFFERENCE

Teachers and mentors from Caterpillar at the end of the days JA Job Shadow experience.

The JA Job Shadow program began with a big difference at the Caterpillar plant in West Java. Led by Mr. Ken Bixby, the President Director, Caterpillar staff mentored teachers from schools surrounding the factory. This is the precursor to six JA Job Shadow days held at the factory over a period of six weeks for 120 students. Now the teachers understand what the students will be experiencing.

The day was a tremendous success and every teacher had enjoyable time learning from the experts at Caterpillar. PJI plans to replicate this teacher Job shadow experience in other locations in Indonesia given the days success.

VOLUNTEERING IN PAPUA IS A HUGE SUCCESS

Working together with Freeport's Yayasan Pendidikan Jayawidjaya, PJI has implemented elementary and middle school programs in both Kuala Kencana and Tembagapura. Volunteers from the community have come into the schools to help instruct students in the grade 4 and grade 5 initiatives and mentor the JA Student Company programs operating at middle school level. These parent volunteers have been of exceptional value to student learning as they have participated in a positive and professional manner adding value to each of the innovative lessons. The students have reacted to this new learning program with great enthusiasm and there is much competition between the two student companies operating in the area.

PREPARING LEADERS AND DEVELOPING TEAMWORK FOR STUDENT COMPANIES IN JAKARTA

Balancing the bamboo stick....

On 18 April 2011, Prestasi Junior Indonesia conducted Leadership and Team Building Training for about 100 student company members from SMKN 6, 8, 14 and 26. During the training the students participated in fun games that tested their team work skills as well as their leadership skills. While the games were fun and challenging, the students had to work together, control their emotions and even pull back a bit in order to complete the tasks satisfactorily. "Through this event, we expect the students to become more confident at a personal and team level. Other than that, this event is a medium for them to interact with other companies, do some networking and be confident to promote themselves," said Noor Fuadiyah, the event coordinator. Thanks to the help of volunteers, senior students, the event was successful and everybody had a great time.
